

Introduction

UGI Electric is pleased to partner with local Trade Allies to promote energy efficiency services to our business customers. Trade Allies help raise awareness of our energy efficiency programs and inform customers about the opportunities and incentives available. Participating Trade Allies include installation contractors, distributors, architects and engineers (A&E), energy service companies (ESCOs), and other service providers who are familiar with the Commercial and Industrial (C&I) Custom Incentive Program.

If your organization provides services related to lighting, HVAC equipment and systems, commercial refrigeration and kitchen equipment, building automation systems, and/or process equipment, UGI Electric offers you an opportunity to be listed on the program website.

How To Apply

Enter all required information, including general company information and contact information, Trade Ally type (installation contractor, distributor, consultant, engineering firm, other), and type of products or services offered and return to the Program Team at ugicustom@franklinenergy.com. The person filling out this form will be considered the account administrator and will be responsible for updating contact information and ensuring a company representative attends an annual Trade Ally informational session. Only one form should be submitted per company.

To be listed on the program website, Trade Allies must:

- Attend a UGI Trade Ally informational session annually
- Successfully complete at least one Custom Incentive project per program year
- Promote the program to your customers
